Addressing the SR-710 North Draft EIR: How to submit effective written comments

Join us in a spirited dialogue that will present useful information about the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) and the SR-710 North Project EIR. You will learn an array of strategies and approaches necessary to get past the volumes of the upcoming Draft EIR and submit meaningful comments in this often misunderstood state-mandated process. Your role in this process is crucial. Don't let it slip away. You can make a difference!

Topics include:

- Brief introduction to the history and purpose of CEQA
- Contents of an Environmental Impact Report
- Understanding the jargon used in the environmental review process
- The public review process for an EIR
- How to target your comments on the draft EIR
- How to present and submit your comments for maximum effectiveness
- How to make sure you are notified of all hearings and relevant developments
- What to expect as next steps

This event will be facilitated by Delaine W. Shane. Mrs. Shane has over 34 years of experience in the preparation and processing of environmental documents in both the public and private sectors. Her most recent EIR analyzed the environmental challenges facing a proposed conversion of farmland in Northern California to roughly 1,200 acres of subtidal habitat for the Delta smelt and Chinook salmon.
